

COUNTRY CLUB HOMES, INC.

Country Club Homes, Inc. has been building and renovating homes throughout Fairfield County since 1955. A family-owned and operated design and build firm, Walter Cromwell, Jr. and Carolyn Wheeler, principals of the company, work directly with both architects and homeowners to build houses that meet their very exacting specifications. You'll have the freedom to choose the smallest details to gain the biggest goal: your happiness.

Carolyn's inherent knowledge and eye for detail combined with Walter's design and project management skills bring you, the Owner, a unique male and female perspective on every project. Let them guide you through what may seem like an overwhelming process, and make it a rewarding one.

Whether they are building a custom residence or renovating an existing home, they make sure that the workmanship represents the classic craftsmanship they are known for producing. Quality, affordability and sustainability are an integral part of their design and construction. Large or small or somewhere in between, a unique and special home can be yours with Country Club Homes, Inc.

The key to their success is their commitment to a new level of personal service. For them, communication is critical; responsiveness, essential. They take the extra steps to ensure the utmost in quality, style and customer satisfaction, from the moment they break ground to the final finishing touches.

Since 2004, the Home Builder's Association of Connecticut has awarded Country Club Homes, Inc. with 17 HOBI Awards. The "HOBIs" are the most competitive and prestigious awards in the state for the home building industry.
